The Theater Oberzeiring (THEO) is one of the largest and most productive free theatres in Austria. Putting on six of its own productions every season, two stages seating a total of 180 spectators are busy throughout the year: the "black box" auditorium and the "studio stage". Its purpose is to celebrate traditions whilst also creating a space to produce something new. Over 100 showings per year at home and on tour both in Austria and abroad demonstrate its significance across regional borders. Its repertoire generally covers classics, original productions and comedies, as well as family-friendly performances.

Edelsteine Krampl is a gemstone business in the heart of Styria's Zirbenland. Precious stones mainly from Styria are crafted into remarkable items and decorative pieces. A tour of the 'transparent factory' section shows you how it all works step by step, where you will learn many fascinating facts about how regional natural stone is worked. The factory is a popular destination for families and tour groups, with its gemstone cutting workshop, artist's studio, goldsmith, sculptors, and glittering collection of crystals. A wealth of sights and knowledge meets charming products and exquisite items of jewellery. Also awaiting visitors is a comprehensive programme of workshops and activities. Become a gemstone cutter, jewellery designer, or help the resident goldsmith forge your very own partner ring.

Since the 12th century, the monastery, which is situated on a plateau on the slopes of the Seckauer Tauern, has been a hotspot for spiritual life, a place of pilgrimage and finding new power. The Romanesque basilica was extensively rebuilt in 2017/18 in occasion of the 800th anniversary of the diocese. Here you find ecclesiastical art of the past and present (Habsburg Mausoleum, Chapel of Grace and Bishop's Chapel as well as Angel Chapel with the fresco cycle by Herbert Boeckl with themes from the Revelation of Jesus Christ by John). The Benedictine life of the monks in prayer and work can be experienced from afar. The Abbey school, distillery and the abbey's book and art shop complete the program. Seckau is the starting point or destination of a lot of cycling tours and hikes. The Seckauer Hochalmskirche (1822m) offers unique views.

The outdoor pool in Kleinlobming is especially popular with families with young children, primarily because of its family-friendly services but also because parents can keep their children in sight and therefore enjoy a day in the pool themselves. The splash shower, bubble jets and massage jets are particularly popular, plus there's a separate children's area with nappy-changing facilities and heated paddling pool, children's play equipment and table football, a shady lawn and a heated outdoor and family pool.
